FIFTY-FIRST YEAR

RUSSIAN INVASION
OF HUNGARY CHECKEDAustrian Front Stiffens at the Eleventh
Hour; Germany not Afraid
Of the Slavs

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The sudden stiffening of the Austrian front at the eleventh hour, checking the Russian invasion of Hungary, which was planned following the occupation of Bukovina, is the event of chief military importance. Russian movements at the east and west Prussian frontiers seem to excite no fear in Germany, which insists there is no danger of new advances into her territory. There is no news from the western front, and the newspapers give it scant attention, featuring the naval action of which there are yet no details. Roumania, in the meanwhile has not decided whether to join the war but it is evident things are simmering in the Balkans and sudden action is expected. The Swedish press is showing renewed irritation over the British contraband policy and some Stockholm papers suggest reprisals by forbidding the transportation of goods destined to Great Britain over Swedish railways.

Serbian Army Aided.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—An Athens dispatch says the Serbian army has been re-inforced by additional Cossack troops. A considerable quantity of war supplies has also been sent Serbia from Russia.

Saving Their Money.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—A Renter's

dispatch from Petrograd says M. Kharitonoff, comptroller of the Russian treasury, speaking before the Duma budget committee, declared that owing to the great increase in national savings, due to prohibition, the extraordinary outlay occasioned by the war has caused no great suffering as yet in Russia.

Requests Ignored.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—It became known that the second request by American Ambassador Morgenthau, at Petrograd that two Americans be permitted to carry supplies to prisoners in detention camps in Siberia has so far failed to bring a response from the Russian government. Because of the reported condition of the prisoners in these camps, the state department some time ago authorized the Americans to take charge of a relief expedition organized in Peking. The expedition was halted at the Russian border.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 25.—The British air raid last week on Essen resulted in the destruction of 400 war automobiles, according to a correspondent of the Handelsblad. These cars, which were in a repair shop, were wrecked by British bombs.

HAS SOVEREIGNTY OF BELGIUM EXPIRED?

GERMANY TAKES THAT VIEW BUT THE UNITED STATES DODGES THE DELICATE QUESTION

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Bryan made public the text of a note from Germany annulling the certificates of authority of neutral consuls in Belgium, and issued a paraphrase of the American government's reply. While the German note considers the exequaturs of neutral consuls to have "expired" the American government takes the view that they merely have been "suspended." In this way Washington avoided committing itself to the question whether or not the sovereignty of Belgium expired with German military occupation.

STATE FAIR BILL IS PARED BY
SENATEFOUR THOUSAND SLICED
OFF ORIGINAL APPROPRIATION; COUNTY DIVISION DISCUSSED

PHOENIX, Jan. 25.—Not a single new bill was introduced into either house at the morning session, greatly to the relief of all concerned. Senate bills Nos. 30, 31 and 32 and house bills Nos. 30 to 36 inclusive were referred to the proper committees.

Senate bill No. 17 was passed to third and final reading. This bill originally appropriated $25,000 for the state fair commission, but $4,000 was sliced from the original amount and the bill finally passed, carrying but $21,000, of which $19,308 is to meet a deficiency and $1,692 for current expenses until the end of the fiscal year, June 30. The vote was 18 to 0.

In the House.

In the house, William Marlar (Cochise) was called to the chair by Speaker Brooks and the house went into committee of the whole for the consideration of house bill No. 4, a measure providing for the removal of county seats, and the method of determining such removal.

The bill is designed especially for the relief of Graham and Cochise counties, and was introduced by J. H. Lines, of the former county. It is, in effect a county rights bill, and puts the question of county seat removal up to the voters of the county and takes it away from the voters of the state at large.

A lively discussion was precipitated by T. T. Powers (Maricopa) over the legal sufficiency of the emergency clause which removes it from the realm of referendum attack. Lines argued that an emergency did exist, at least in his county. The measure was finally re-referred to the judiciary committee by a vote of 19 to 14.

BE NEGOTIATED WITH NICARAGUA AND COSTA
RICA; NAVAL BASE IS ALSO DESIRED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25.—Suggesting that it is not unlikely that the United States some day would build another interoceanic waterway to supplement the Panama canal, Bryan explained tonight that he regarded it as a wise precaution for the American government to negotiate treaties with Nicaragua and Costa Rica, giving this country an option on a canal route across that section of Central America.

He also spoke of the importance of a naval base in the bay of Fonseca, and announced that the state department was prepared to treat for this with Honduras, Salvador and Nicaragua.

Bryan said that anybody interested in such a large enterprise as our canal can afford to pay a small amount for an additional route, which for a long time was regarded as the favored route.

Justice Day declared that the decision also invalidated the laws on like lines in California, Colorado, Indiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Porto Rico.

The dissenting judges asked why, under the decision an employee could not be prevented from joining the national guard and certain political parties, if they could be prevented from joining unions.

PEEPLER VALLEY
HAS MINERAL
WONDERFINE GRADE OF SILICA IN GLASS IN ITS NATURAL STATE HAS BEEN OPEN-ED UP

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

What is commonly known as the "Glass Mine" of Peoples valley, but technically speaking is nothing more than an immense deposit of chemically pure silica, is to become active again, was the report made yesterday by J. E. Pawley, who is now the owner.

This rare mineral for this section, was discovered many years ago but attracted little interest, the mica lenses however that lap against the deposit being worked and several tons shipped that netted over $75 to the car. The silica condition has been prospected, and according to a statement made yesterday by Pawley is 40 feet wide and over 400 feet long. The first shipment will go to Phoenix, to be used in a new store for reflecting light on sidewalks or in buildings as well as for ornamental decoration. It is susceptible to being easily moulded and in its manufactured state is durable. The commercial grade of this product is extensively used in smelters for fluxing certain ores, which abound in this region.

ENGLAND JUBILANT
OVER NAVAL VICTORYGerman Attacking Fleet is Driven Off
With the Loss of One Of Its Cruisers

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The British admiralty denies the German statement that a British cruiser was sunk in the North sea battle. It says officially: "No British ships were lost."

News of the naval engagement has aroused more public enthusiasm than the first fight off Heligoland or the battle off Falkland island. Sir David Beatty, commander of the British squadron, is the hero of the hour.

To the English this battle means a return of their confidence in the big gun fleet and calms the fears of the east coast towns of frequent repetitions of the Hartlepool-Scarborough raids.

Early yesterday the British squadron cruisers Tiger, Lion, Princess Royal, New Zealand and Indomitable under Vice-Admiral Beatty, and a destroyer flotilla under Commodore Yyrwhitt sighted four German cruisers and a number of destroyers headed for the English coast.

They pursued the German vessels, and at 9:30 the battle was joined. After a running fight, the German cruiser Bluecher sank about 1 o'clock. The other German cruisers escaped into the German mine field. As far as known, about 123 of the German crew of 885 were saved. Only eleven were wounded on the Lion.

The English claim that two other German cruisers were damaged. The German cruisers in the engagement

What the Germans Say.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The German official account of the naval battle yesterday in the North sea in which the German cruiser Bluecher was sunk with most of its crew by the British fleet, declares that the best information shows that a British battle cruiser was also destroyed.

The statement says: "During the advance of our armored cruisers Seydlitz, Derflinger, Moltke and Bluecher, which were accompanied by four torpedo boats, and while steaming in the North sea, the vessels engaged a British detachment composed of five battle cruisers, several smaller cruisers and twenty-six torpedo boat destroyers. The enemy discontinued the engagement after three hours at a point seventy miles northwest of Heligoland and retreated, according to the information available."

One British battle cruiser and one of our armored cruisers, the Bluecher were sunk. All honor is going to the ships which returned to port.
